Business Psychologist, TEDx Speaker and TED Circle Host, Peak Performance Neurocoach and accredited Flow Consultant for Entrepreneurs.

"I help you explode your old limiting beliefs and rewire your brain using scientifically proven methods so that you can design and build a new life and business."

THE BACK STORY...

Dr Libby Kemkaran works with women around the globe to get out of their own way and finally get the life and business they desire. Having started and run several businesses herself, Libby knows what it takes to grow and scale to build a passive income stream.

Libby was a Management Consultant in the city and had her own consultancy focused on Change Management and Business Development, before she decided to retrain to be a vet. Libby graduated in 2011 with the prize for outstanding achievement. A lifelong student of Behavioural Psychology and Neuro-associative Conditioning, Libby took the opportunity, whilst at Cambridge, to undertake a degree in Biological and Biomedical Science, with a Major in Behaviour, specifically the Neural Mechanisms of Behaviour.

Libby spent 5yrs working as a small animal clinician before a car crash left her unable to work as a vet. She then combined her Behaviour degree from Cambridge with her Business Consultancy skills from her time in the city to create the groundbreaking TAME® Your Brain programme. This helps you grow your business faster by blending together bullet-proof Strategy with Behavioural Psychology and Neuro-associative Conditioning.

She learnt so much about the Neural Mechanisms of behaviour, and 'why people do what they do' that she became passionate about helping other women understand what's holding them back – and how to get massively productive and stop the self-sabotage!

After 20yrs experience and working with 1000's of women around the world, Libby knows how to help you rewire your brain to remove the doubts and fears holding you back so you can reach your goals with grace and ease. Libby also trains multi-million dollar companies in Leadership and Management, Communications, and Mindset for Sales Success.

"When everything is uncertain, everything important becomes clear."
